

Consumer Financial Protection Bureau

1700 G Street, N.W., Washington, DC 20552

American Debt Settlement Solutions, Inc.

Background:

The CFPB investigated American Debt Settlement Solutions, Inc. (ADSS) and determined that it violated the law, including by promising debt-relief services and then never providing them. Last summer, we sued ADSS to stop its illegal practices. The company agreed to a settlement with us. As a result of that settlement, eligible consumers harmed by ADSS's unlawful practices may receive compensation from the CFPB.

More information about this case can be found in our ADSS blog post. For a link to the final court order in the ADSS case, click here.

Victim Compensation:

The CFPB has contracted with Epiq Systems, Inc. to administer these payments and answer questions from consumers about these payments and this case. For questions related to this case, please:

Email: ADSS_Info@cfpbconsumerprotection.org

Write: ADSS Case Support
P.O. Box 5110
Portland, OR 97208-5110