How We Will Calculate Your Balance: We use a method called “average daily balance” (including new transactions).

Your Billing Rights: Information on your rights to dispute transactions and how to exercise those rights are included in the Cardholder Agreement. See Billing Rights in the Cardholder Terms for more details.

Annual Fee. The Annual Fee will be charged on your first billing cycle and thereafter once every 12 months, whether or not you use your account. Your annual fee will be added to your purchase balance and may incur interest.

How We Will Calculate Your Variable APRs: We will add a "margin" to the U.S. Prime Rate to determine your variable APR. For each billing period, we will use the U.S. Prime Rate or the average of the U.S. Prime Rates if there is more than one, published in the Money Rates column of The Wall Street Journal three business days prior to your billing statement closing date. Any new rate will apply as of the first day of your billing cycle during which the Prime Rate has changed. Any change in the U.S. Prime Rate may increase or decrease your finance charges, daily periodic rates, and your minimum payment. If the Wall Street Journal stops publishing the Prime Rate, we will select a similar reference rate.

Purchase APR: Prime + 12.74% to Prime + 19.74%.

U.S. Prime Rate effective as of May 8, 2023 is 8.25%.

How We Will Calculate the Interest Charge: We use the “average daily balance (including new transactions)” method to calculate the interest charge. This means that at the end of each Billing Cycle, we: (1) multiply your average daily balance (including new transactions) by the daily periodic rate for that transaction type, and (2) multiply the result by the number of days in the Billing Cycle. The “daily periodic rate” is equal to the APR applicable to the transaction type, divided by 365. To get the “average daily balance (including new transactions),” we take the beginning balance of your Account each day of the Billing Cycle, add any new transactions posted that day, and the periodic interest charge and fees incurred the previous day (compounding interest), and then subtract any payments or credits. If any day’s daily balance is a credit balance, we will treat it as a balance equal to $0.00. This gives us the daily balance. Then, we add up all the daily balances for each day of the Billing Cycle and divide the total by the number of days in the Billing Cycle. This gives us the “average daily balance (including new transactions).” Due to rounding, this interest calculation may vary from the interest charge actually assessed. You can avoid interest charges on purchases if you pay your entire balance by the Payment Due Date each Billing Cycle. We will not charge you interest for an entire Billing Cycle on new purchases and fees posted during that Billing Cycle if you paid the entire Statement balance by the Payment Due Date in the previous Billing Cycle (or if your balance was $0.00 or a credit balance).

Avoiding Paying Finance Charges: If you pay your Statement’s new balance in full by the payment due date, we will not charge interest on any new transactions that post to the purchase balance. If you have been paying your Account in full without finance charges, but fail to pay your next new balance in full, we will charge interest on the unpaid balance and any new transactions that post to the purchase balance.

Cash Advance/ATM Access: This card does not have a cash advance or ATM access feature and thus you will not be able to take cash advances using your card.
