Send money abroad with more confidence.

Costs of international money transfers are now easier to see.
When you send money to family, friends or others outside of the United States, do you know how much they’ll actually receive? Now it’s possible to know more before you send.

New protections apply when you send money abroad.

Before you pay, you will learn more about:
- The exchange rate
- The fees and taxes you’ll pay
- The amount that will be received

You will also receive information about:
- When the money will be available at its destination
- Your right to cancel the transfer
- How to get help if errors are made
- How to submit a complaint

Many money transfer providers must provide this new information, but not all. Other protections also may be available to you, depending on how you send the money and the laws in your state.

To learn more, call the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau at 855-411-CFPB (2372) or visit consumerfinance.gov/askcfpb