Becoming a trustworthy borrower

When people need or want something, they may borrow it from someone else. It's important to be a trustworthy borrower so that the person you borrow from will trust you and lend to you again in the future.

Practicing being a trustworthy borrower

- Choose something from the list below to borrow from your partner.
- Ask your partner (who will play the lender) questions 1-3 before you borrow the item. Write their answers on the worksheet.
- Complete questions 4-7 based on your partner's answers to questions 1-3.
- You and your partner will take turns acting out the role of borrower and lender, using your worksheets as a script.

Items to borrow

Ask these questions before you borrow something:

1. May I borrow your _____ ? (Your partner will say yes.)
(What are you asking to borrow?)

2. When would you like it back? _____
(Write the lender's answer here)

3. I want to take good care of it and return it in good condition. How can I do that for you?

_____
(Write the lender's answer here)

Things to tell your lender when you return what you've borrowed:

4. Here is your _____ .

5. I'm returning it by _____ , just like you asked.

6. To take good care of it, I _____ , just like you asked.

7. Thank you for letting me borrow it. I appreciate it.
