Glossary/Definitions

Below are several terms that refer to specific small business and other financing products.

Small business loan: This is a closed end business purpose credit, meaning the specific dollar amount of funds are dispersed and funds are typically received upfront.

Small business line of credit: A revolving business purpose credit line available over an ongoing period. Can be paid down and borrowed against as long as the amount outstanding is below the credit limit.

Small business credit card: Credit cards that have a relatively small credit line (typically under $10,000) that are used for business purposes.

Conventional Ioan: A loan that is not part of a specific governmental program. E.g. a loan backed by the lender rather than a government program (such as an SBA guaranteed loan)

Small Business Administration (SBA) Guaranteed Loan: Business loans (can be a closed-end or line of credit) provided by a participating lender in which the credit amount is partially guaranteed by the SBA.

Personal Ioan: A closed end Ioan taken out by the owner for personal use, meaning the funds are dispersed in a single installment at the time the line is established.

Personal credit card: A credit line for personal use which is accessed through a card network to provide payment to the retailer.

Personal line of credit: A revolving business purpose credit line (the line may be either unsecured or secured). A common example of a secured line is a Home Equity Line of Credit (HELOC).

Line of credit: The borrower is provided a set credit amount on which they can borrow and repay as needed with interest applied on the outstanding balance.
